Since our founding in 1851, MassMutual has helped people secure their future and protect the ones they love. This means that every day our policyowners and customers rely on us to provide them with financial security and peace of mind. This is a responsibility we hold with the utmost importance — and is why we have an enduring focus on ethics and integrity.

The foundation of this long-standing commitment is our Code of Conduct. Centered on our core values, it establishes key principles of behavior that we all live by to ensure we do the right thing for our policyowners, our customers, our company and each other. Please take time to become familiar with the code and our company’s policies and, most importantly, use it to guide you in making the best ethical decisions as we continue to help people build a more confident future.

Our integrity has long been one of our greatest strengths, and together, we all play an important role in protecting it. At our core, we are a company of people helping people, and we hold ourselves to the same high standards as our founders did more than 165 years ago.

Thank you for your ongoing dedication to upholding the values that make our company a leading role model in our industry and beyond.

Sincerely,

Roger Crandall
Chairman, President and CEO
MassMutual Winning Ways

Focus on the customer
We understand our customers well and look for every opportunity to deliver an experience that is clear, easy, personal, human, empowering, and trustworthy.

Act with integrity
We deliver on our promises by being open, honest, and humble and by adhering to the letter and spirit of applicable laws, rules, regulations, and company policies.

Value people
We respect and learn from each other’s diverse backgrounds, experiences, and ideas. We engage and develop people to their greatest potential.

Work collaboratively
We work together to achieve results by actively listening, seeking understanding, and creating solutions as a unified team driving toward one company, one culture, one brand.

Achieve results
We focus on winning by exceeding expectations and getting better — everyone, every day.
What is the MassMutual Code of Conduct?

Acting ethically and with integrity is how we do business. It is part of how we help people secure their future and protect the ones they love. Founded on the Winning Ways, our Code of Conduct establishes the expectations and principles for our behavior and helps guide us when we are faced with making difficult decisions.

Why do we have a code, and why must we follow it?

While the Code of Conduct cannot address every situation we may face, it provides information about how to raise issues or concerns. The Code of Conduct describes various resources available to employees, like company policies, to help guide us when a decision is not clear or easy.

Compliance with the Code of Conduct and company policies is a condition of employment. Each year, we must acknowledge that we have read and understand the Code of Conduct and agree to comply with the Code of Conduct and company policies.

Who must follow the code?

The Code of Conduct applies to employees of MassMutual and certain subsidiaries. MassMutual expects its other business partners, including advisors, brokers and other distributors, vendors, suppliers and other third parties, to follow the principles outlined in the Code of Conduct when working with or on behalf of MassMutual. If we violate the Code of Conduct or other company policies, or if we do not take appropriate action against illegal, unethical or improper conduct, we may be subject to discipline, including termination of employment.
Our responsibilities as employees

As MassMutual employees, we have a responsibility to:

• Honor our company values by acting ethically and with integrity in business dealings.
• Understand and comply with our Code of Conduct and company policies.
• Raise compliance and ethics issues or concerns promptly through proper reporting channels.
• Acknowledge the Code of Conduct annually and complete the required education.

Additional responsibilities for managers

As MassMutual leaders, we have a responsibility to:

• Demonstrate the Winning Ways behaviors and lead by example.
• Help employees comply with the Code of Conduct, policies and applicable laws and regulations and understand the behaviors expected of them.
• Identify business compliance risks and take prompt corrective action.
• Promote an environment where employees feel comfortable speaking up, asking questions, seeking advice and reporting concerns without fear of retaliation.
• Acknowledge and reward ethical behavior.
• Refer matters we are unable to resolve to the appropriate resource channel.
When we are unsure how to handle a situation or question whether it is the right thing to do, we should consider the following questions:

- Is my decision or action consistent with the standards in the Code of Conduct, company policies or legal requirements?
- Is my decision or action consistent with MassMutual’s values — our Winning Ways?
- Does the situation or proposed action feel right?
- Would my decision or action be the right thing to do for MassMutual, its customers, employees, or others?
- Would I feel comfortable explaining my decision or action to others?
- Would I feel comfortable if my decision or action became public?

If the answer to any of these questions is no or you are not sure, seek guidance from the following reporting channels:

- Your manager or another manager within the reporting chain
- Your Human Resources business partner
- Compliance & Ethics Department
- Law Department
- Enterprise Risk Management
- Compliance & Ethics Reporting Hotline

“In most work situations, the right course of action will be clear. But at times we might be uncertain what to do. Our Ethical Decision-Making Framework helps guide us to make the right choice and ultimately protect our policyowners.”

— Mark Pedro, Compliance & Ethics
“As a company, we need to ground each decision we make and each action we take on what we believe is the right thing to do. If you think someone is acting in an unethical or illegal manner, speak up. It’s everyone’s responsibility to protect our policyowners, customers and MassMutual’s reputation for ethics and integrity.”

— Brad Lucido, Chief Compliance & Ethics Officer
SPEAK UP

We all have an obligation to “Speak Up” and report compliance, ethics or risk issues or concerns that are, or seem to be, unethical or illegal. By addressing them promptly and appropriately, we can minimize the potential negative impact on MassMutual and us and help identify issues that can improve our operations and performance. You are encouraged to “speak up” and utilize one of our numerous reporting channels.

COMPLIANCE & ETHICS REPORTING HOTLINE

The Compliance & Ethics Reporting Hotline provides a reporting channel in cases where we may not be comfortable discussing the issue or concern with an individual or where we may prefer to raise the issue or concern anonymously. The Hotline is administered by an independent third party vendor. We can reach the Hotline twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week by calling 1-800-422-1381 or via the web at www.massmutual.com/ethics.

WHISTLEBLOWER PROCEDURES

Our obligation to “speak up” and report issues or concerns within MassMutual is not intended or should be construed to restrict, discourage or interfere with communications or actions protected or required by law, including the exercise of our right to contact any regulatory authority directly to report violations of law under applicable “whistleblower” laws. We do not need the prior authorization of or notice to MassMutual to make any such reports or disclosures, and will not be retaliated against for making such reports or disclosures.

INVESTIGATION OF REPORTS

MassMutual handles reports of unethical or illegal behavior promptly. While MassMutual makes every effort to keep reports confidential, information may need to be shared with individuals who are involved in investigating the report so they can investigate and follow-up appropriately. If we become involved in a company investigation, we must cooperate fully and provide complete and honest answers to all questions.

ANTI-RETIATION

MassMutual values reports of compliance, ethics or risk issues or concerns and will support us for raising those issues or concerns in good faith. Anyone who engages in retaliatory conduct against a person who has in good faith raised a compliance, ethics or risk issue or concern will face disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment.
Acting ethically and with integrity

Guiding principle
We will conduct business ethically, with integrity and in compliance with applicable laws.

Why it matters?
Doing the right thing for our policyowners and customers, our company and each other requires more than just complying with applicable laws and regulations. We are also committed to conducting business ethically in order to provide our policyowners and customers with financial security and peace of mind. Unethical or illegal behavior is never justified.

How we do it?
• We are committed to conducting business ethically and in compliance with applicable laws.
• Unethical or illegal behavior is never justified.
• We compete vigorously, but fairly, and will gain business advantages only through appropriate behavior.
• Fraudulent behavior by anyone — policyowners, customers, employees, advisors or third parties — will not be tolerated.
• We are all responsible for being familiar with and following the relevant laws, regulations and company policies that govern how MassMutual does business.

“How you show up, treat, and care for people in life and in business matters. Our policyowners and customers trust us to do the right thing by them today and far into tomorrow. There is nothing more important than living up to that promise.”

— Teresa Hassara, MassMutual U.S.

Respecting each other

Guiding principle
We will be respectful to others and welcome and encourage diverse opinions, attitudes, attributes and feelings.

Why it matters?
Respecting the opinions, attitudes, attributes and feelings of others makes our work environment richer and leads to empowerment, innovation and better business decisions.

How we do it?
- We are committed to maintaining a diverse, respectful and productive workplace.
- We treat everyone fairly and respectfully.
- We make job-related decisions based on qualifications or individual abilities, not someone’s status as a member of a certain class of people — for example, age, race, religion, sex, disability or veteran status.
- We maintain a positive workplace free from illegal harassment and other inappropriate behavior.
- We keep a safe work environment, free of violence or threatening behavior.

“To be our best as an organization, we need to build relationships and bring people together to be our collective and individual best. It is important to seek out, listen to and embrace others’ perspectives.”

“With today’s fast paced and constantly evolving information security landscape, it is imperative that we all safeguard confidential information. Our policyholders will benefit from and appreciate our efforts in helping to keep their information secure and protect their assets.”

— Macarthur Starks, Corporate Finance

Safeguarding confidential information

Guiding principle
We will protect confidential information of MassMutual, its policyowners, customers and employees against unauthorized access, use or improper disclosure.

Why it matters?
Our company, policyowners, customers and employees rely on us to protect against unauthorized access, use or improper disclosure of and to preserve confidential information. Improper use and disclosure of confidential information would impact our reputation and subject the company to fines and penalties.

How we do it?
• We are responsible for properly handling, using and safeguarding confidential information.
• We will only share confidential information with individuals who have a business need to know it.
• We will not use material, non-public information (inside information) when making securities trades or unlawfully communicate inside information to others who use that information to trade securities.

Avoiding conflicts of interest

Guiding principle
We will avoid conflicts of interest between ourselves and MassMutual.

“Everyone needs to recognize when we have real or perceived conflicts of interest. Lots of resources are available if you have questions.”
— Melissa Pelletier, HR and Strategic Communications

Why it matters?
Making business decisions based on what is in the best interest for the company, and not our personal gain or benefit, will allow us to maintain our reputation and the trust people place in us.

How we do it?
• A conflict of interest occurs when our personal interests, activities or relationships interfere with our ability to objectively and fairly make decisions or perform our responsibilities on behalf of MassMutual.
• We will avoid conflicts of interest and, to the extent possible, even the appearance of conflicts of interest.
• If we cannot avoid a conflict of interest, we must disclose it to MassMutual so it can be properly managed.
• Examples of situations that may involve conflicts of interest:
  – Taking personal advantage of a business or investment opportunity that we learn about through MassMutual.
  – Acquiring a significant interest or investment in a MassMutual competitor or supplier.
  – Giving or accepting business gifts or entertainment.
  – Having a personal relationship with third parties that do or are trying to do business with MassMutual.
  – Family and personal relationships between employees.

Protecting MassMutual property

Guiding principle
We will use MassMutual property for business purposes and protect it from misuse, theft or damage.

Why it matters?
It is important to properly use and protect company property from misuse, theft or damage in order to preserve its value.

How we do it?
• We will use MassMutual property, including facilities, equipment and technology resources, appropriately and for authorized business purposes.
• We will limit personal use of MassMutual technology resources such as email, telephone systems and computers, to incidental and appropriate purposes.
• We should have no reasonable expectation of privacy. MassMutual tracks and monitors the use of its technology resources.
• We will protect and properly use intellectual property that belongs to MassMutual and third parties.
• Intellectual property created by us while working on behalf of MassMutual is the property of MassMutual.

“No matter what your role is, we all have physical and digital access to the company’s property. We need to take that responsibility seriously to protect the company and our customers’ data.”

— Tim Carmon, Enterprise Risk Management
What’s the issue?

Acceptable Use of Technology Resources

Using technology resources — MassMutual-owned hardware, software, applications, networks, systems and devices — for limited, incidental and appropriate personal purposes only.

Intelectual Property

Company trademarks, service marks, patents, copyrighted material and trade secrets.

MassMutual Property

MassMutual provides facilities, equipment and technology resources for business purposes.

What is it?

Using technology resources.

Company trademarks, service marks, patents, copyrighted material and trade secrets.

MassMutual provides facilities, equipment and technology resources for business purposes.

What could it look like?

Spending the majority of your workday checking Facebook or shopping online instead of completing your work assignments.

Using images created by a third party that you found online in an internal presentation.

You take company supplies, including pens, folders and notepads, for your child to use at school. You have your personal packages delivered to you at work.

What should I do?

MassMutual understands that sometimes you need to get personal activities done while at work. Too much personal use, however, is an abuse of MassMutual time or resources. Spending most of your workday on Facebook or shopping online is not limited, incidental or appropriate use of technology resources. Limit personal use to activities that take a short amount of time to accomplish and don’t interfere with your job responsibilities. For more information, refer to the Technology Acceptable Use Policy.

Never use a third party’s intellectual property without their permission. Review the copyright restrictions posted on the third party’s website or check with the Law Department before using someone’s work product. For more information, refer to the Intellectual Property Policy.

MassMutual provides facilities, equipment and technology resources for business purposes. Using MassMutual property for non-business purposes may be considered theft.
“It’s important that we create and maintain accurate information assets, including company records that align with company policies and regulatory standards. This is a foundational requirement for MassMutual to be a trusted partner for our customers and other stakeholders.”

— Xingcheng Hua, MassMutual Technology and Administration

Governing our information assets

Guiding Principle

We will create and maintain information assets, including company records, that are needed to conduct business effectively and comply with legal and regulatory obligations.

Why it matters?

It is important that company records are authentic, accurate, complete, unaltered and retained securely for as long as they have business value.

How we do it?

- Information assets can be paper documents, electronic documents, email or voicemail.
- Final versions of information assets must be authentic, reliable, complete, unaltered and readily accessible.
- We will destroy an information asset once it meets its disposition period, according to the Information Disposition Schedule, as long as it is not subject to a legal hold.
- We will report business information accurately, honestly and on time, and follow applicable internal controls.

Working with the government and third parties

Guiding principle
We will be honest and forthright in our dealings with the government and third parties and will comply with applicable laws when participating in the political process or when interacting with the government.

Why it matters?
Building strong partnerships with the government and third parties and preventing unfair influence helps us keep our promises and doing business as a trusted partner.

How we do it?
MassMutual encourages employees to participate in the political process as private citizens.

• Our political activities could impact MassMutual’s ability to do business with state or local governments. We must pre-clear any political activities or contributions we make to a political official, a candidate for a state or local political office or a current state or local official running for federal office.

• We must make sure we understand applicable laws before interacting with the government.

• We must obtain approval before using MassMutual resources for political activities, lobbying on behalf of MassMutual or interacting with or hiring a current or former government employee.

• We should contact the Law Department if we receive an inquiry from a regulator, government agency or law enforcement, or a complaint, subpoena, notice of audit or other legal document related to MassMutual, or if we are contacted about litigation against MassMutual or its employees.

“Because we operate in a highly regulated industry, MassMutual must constantly interact with our insurance regulators and other government officials on a myriad of issues. Government Relations and the Law Department are resources when such a need arises.”

— Scott Sebastian, Law Department
